Dub King To Speak At KC Grid Dinner

O. G. Tumlinson, Rt. 1, Cameron, president of the Milam County Farm Bureau, will attend a conference of county Farm Bureau presidents January 20-21 in Waco.

County leaders from all over Texas will analyze the role of the county unit and suggest how local organizations may be strengthened to make the Farm Bureau movement a more effective instrument for representing agriculture.

Largest of all general farm organizations in the state, the Texas Farm Bureau is composed of 191 organized county units.

Membership in the state organization has increased by 44,860 in the past ten years, from 27,820 in 1947 to 72,860 in 1957. The Milam County Farm Bureau has a membership of 1130, officials said.

Texas Farm Bureau President J. H. West of Bishop, Texas, said it could be the most important meeting of the year for Farm Bureau in Texas.

"The entire structure of Farm Bureau is built upon the foundation of the county Farm Bureau," he said. "Without the work and efforts and unselfish sacrifice on the part of volunteer leaders on the county level, Farm Bureau could not be the effective organization that it is today."

All phases of Farm Bureau activity on the county level will be studied at the two-day Waco session. County presidents will divide themselves into groups to analyze various responsibilities of the local organization.

Gene Hillman was the top scorer in both games last week, racking up 29 points against Stephenville January 7 and 14 points against Killeen Friday.

He iced the Stephenville game when he sank two free throws in in the last 6 seconds. The lead had changed hands throughout the contest.

In the Killeen game, the Kangaroos bolted ahead 18-4 in the first quarter and went on to take the win. Cameron had cold first and fourth quarters.

In the B-game Friday night, the Cameron junior varsity edged Killeen Bee's, 43-41.

He emphasized the drop was not considered unusually high. Postal receipts fell off a similar 4 percent in 1956.

Hays said that he wished to thank the citizens of Cameron for their cooperation during the Christmas mail rush.

He said customer cooperation in getting mail in ahead of the last few days averted a big part of the usual holiday mailing rush.

Up To 400 Farmers Await Chance To Put Land Into U.S. Land Program

The heaviest participation in the soil bank program in Milam County history, is underway this week, according to officials at the Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation office, Cameron.

Officials said that as many as 400 farmers waited to put allotted land into the soil bank earlier this week.

The soil bank program started three years ago and is scheduled to run through 1959 unless congress passes legislation continuing the program or stopping it, officials said.

Registration began Monday in the ASC office and in others throughout the nation.

Lines of farmers have waited in front of the office the first three days of registrations.

Soil bank registration begins annually on January 13 and ends March 7.

Statistics were unavailable for previous years of Milam registration in the soil bank at presstime.

But the early rush for registrations prompted officials to predict this would be the heaviest percentage of participation in Milam County since the program was instituted.

Seniors Request Cameron's Help In Youth Center

Recent vandalism in Cameron public schools this week prompted a letter from four Yoe High School seniors asking for a youth center for teen-agers.

The letter, signed by Gail Griswold, Make McDermott, Clifford Swift and Carole Heitman, followed action by school administrators who sought to stop vandalism and window breakage in city schools.

Following is the letter submitted by the four YHS students:

We represent the youth of the city of Cameron. In defense of our fellow teenagers the following is written:

Parents, teachers and other Cameronites interested in the youth of our town know the problem of recreation for us teenagers. As for solving this problem, no progress has been made.

We are Seniors in Yoe High and in constant contact with the teenagers that are being disciplined everyday for doing some mischievous act. Most probably it was done for a lack of something else to do. Our parents must realize the gravity of the situation that is fast becoming a menace to the city. Teenagers that are in a decent place having a good time seldom cause trouble. Do we have a decent place for us teenagers to have a good timeb

We put this in the form of a plea to our parents, teachers, and the people of our city government to provide a good youth center with grownups running it that are reliable, understanding, and a lot of fun.

Respectfully submitted,
Gail Griswold
Make McDermott
Clifford Swift
Carole Heitman

50 Windows Smashed

Officials Check Vandalism

The Cameron school board Tuesday night sanctioned strict disciplinary policies asked for by school administrators seeking to stop a wave of vandalism.

Supt. Wiley Loughmiller told the Herald that teen-agers have been vandalizing school property, causing about $80 damage in window breakage since the Christmas holidays.

He said parents of the teen agers have paid most of the replacement cost of the windows. Front-campus statues of the Yoes, builders of the school, were marked up recently, he said.

Two youths were expelled for two weeks, Loughmiller said.

He told board members "he believed the vandalism would stop."

Cameron Relay Funds

The board also approved expenditure of $112.50 for medals and trophies for the annual Cameron Relays in March. The yearly event attracts many of the outstanding track and field teams in Texas.

Also approved was the expenditure of $50 for prize money in a Science Show climaxing Texas Education Week, March 2—8. Top three exhibits will receive prize awards, Loughmiller said.

Mrs. Herbert Nance, YHS science teacher, will supervise the science fair.

The board also approved a six-away, four-home football schedule for next fall. Officials said West was the only team in 150-mile radius willing to play away from home next fall.

Board members gave the go ahead to order special cinders for Yoe Field track which was damaged by rains this fall. Cost of repair will be $450, officials said.

In other business the board voted to spend $90 for lumber for the O. J. Thomas bookroom and to purchase 35 desk-chair sets for extra students.

Testing To Start

School officials told board members that testing programs will be run this spring that make way for grouping of students in some classes according to achievement and ability.

Members also asked the administration to consider compulsory language requirements in some grades.

Elementary Principal Leon Brady and YHS Principal J. R. Young said that achievement tests will be given this spring, testing the top four grades for the coming school year.

Administration officials told board members that additional instruction of a foreign language would require the addition of another fulltime teacher if taught in lower grades.

Board members present were: Mrs. Lucille Monroe, Dr. David Shapiro, Don Humble and Board vice-president Earl Curtis.

Weather Notes

Milder temperatures are forecast for Cameron and vicinity over the weekend. A cold front rolled in Tuesday dropping temperatures well below freezing.

Outdoors In Texas

Now's Time To Build Cover

By Vern Sanford

Ever build a brush cover in your favorite fishing lake? Right now is just about the best time of the year to do it.

If you like crappie or bream fishing, then a brush cover has a great deal to offer.

Biologists are agreed that a good brush cover offers a definite advantage in catching fish. And a good one can be built in a couple of hours. It is hard work, however, especially if you are a desk man.

Generally brush covers don't work too well in a running stream. They must be firmly anchored. In relatively still lakes they can be tied down with heavy rocks. However, if they can be built around an old tree trunk it is even better.

To build a brush shelter you'll need a sharp axe, a pair of pliers, and plenty of bailing wire. A good tow-rope will be helpful too. It is best to work with two boats, or a raft.

Building Simple

The process of building the shelter is in itself relatively simple. Cut an armful of brush, such as willow, tie it together, and attach a stone so that it will sink to the bottom of the lake. Select a suitable spot where the shelter will not be a hazard to navigation, or get in the way of deep trollers.

It doesn't have to be too far from shore. At least a dozen large bundles of brush should be transported to the spot. Some of it should consist of fair-sized brush, such as mesquite trees.

In lowering the brush into the water, it is well that the brush be stacked, so that it will be in a pile at the bottom of the lake. A brush shelter a dozen feet around and some five or six feet through is ideal.

Some builders find it profitable also to anchor a bale of alfalfa hay in the center of the pile.

To be most effective the brush should not be matted together. Fish must be able to swim around freely among the branches. At the same time, some shelter builders prefer a brush pile that big fish cannot get into ... one that furnishes a refuge for smaller fish.

When big fish chase the little ones into the brush pile, they'll hang around nearby. That's a pretty good time to lower a minnow in the vicinity. For that reason the perimeter should be well marked. Plenty of hooks can be lost fishing in brush shelters, if its bounds are not known.

Some fishermen use poultry netting to hold the brush together. In that event the entire project must be completed on land and then towed to its resting place.

We once heard of a fisherman who made an unusual, yet ideal, shelter in a lake that had just been lowered. He found a couple of old outhouses, filled them with heavy brush, then hauled them to a spot that would be just the right depth when the lake was re-filled. There he anchored them down to stay. They were left flat on their sides, with the door open.

Needless to say, he had an ideal cover for fishing and caught more than his share of crappie and bream.

Another good plan is to build the shelter directly under the end of the boat dock or pier. In this instance it is necessary to use heavy wire to keep the brush from washing out, and to keep hooks from snagging.

Anyway, now is a good time to build you a brush shelter. Just be careful where you cut your brush and where you put it. Do the job right and you'll have a good fishing spot.

What About The Man Overboard?

Ever so often I wonder just what I'd do if a sudden and wholly unexpected need for a life preserver existed. This thought hits me whether I'm just plain fishing or pleasure-boating. And I'm not afraid of the water either.

Fact of the matter is, my concern is over what I'd be able to do to help someone else. Chances are I'd be paralyzed with fear. Apparently that's why I always carry a surplus of buoyant cushions, in addition to the familiar old-style, round shaped life preserver, with a long rope attached.

In my book you can't overdo the safety angle. The law requires one approved life preserver for every passenger in your boat. Don't forget it! Better yet, see to it that your guests wear life preservers. Insist that children do. The wise outdoorsman will never take a chance, especially on or near rough waters.

County Home Demonstration Agent Suggest Safe Reducing Schedule

By Alice G. Hughes

Did the holiday season leave you with some uncomfortable extra pounds, or maybe you made a New Year's resolution to get back to normal weight ... If so, be sensible in mapping out a diet plan, caution extension foods and nutrition specialist.

There is no EASY way to reduce. The one accepted way is to begin with a consultation with your family doctor, and then eat less, but adequately. This means smaller amounts of a large variety of foods to insure getting enough of all the nutrients for good health.

A good guide to form the basis of a reducing diet is the Texas Food Standard, which includes a balanced variety of foods. It avoids much of the embarrassment and inconvenience caused by weird diets. Best of all, it plans for a basic pattern of eating that should be continued by the entire family, after excess weight is lost.

Safe reducing is a fairly long-time project. Two pounds per week is generally considered a safe rate of loss.

Remember that the human body needs adequate fuel at all times. Damage to the body and nervous system, as a result of improper dieting, can be permanent.

Copies of the Texas Food Standard are available at your county home demonstration agent's office.

Freezing Home Killed Pork

Storage time for fresh pork in your home freezer should be limited. Pork does not keep its quality in frozen storage as long as other meats.

Fresh sausage may be stored in the freezer from one to three months. Other cuts of fresh pork can be stored from three to six months, provided they are packaged properly and held at zero degrees F. or lower.

Fat portions of cured or smoked pork may become rancid if stored longer than a two-month period.

To package pork for the freezer use a moisture vapor resistant material, such as heavy freezer foil — Fold closely to drive out air. Use an overwrap to prevent puncturing or breaking the foil in the freezer.

PLAN OF LIFE

I would I might sing the Song of Life
Sweet liquid notes both pure and strong
For in a world of chaos and strife
There are those who need a song.
Where cruelty and selfishness reign
And the light for some is low
We need noblest heights attain
And joy to others show.
In every land is hunger and pain
And darkness snuffs out the light.
Sadness relentlessly stabs again;
Ghastly is the children's plight.
So, I would sing the "Crusader's" song
And give of the best I hold,
To lift up the right, condemn the wrong,
In glad deeds of shining gold.

OUR NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION

Happy New Year . . . in case I didn't get to wish you one in person. Here's hoping 1958 will be the best, most prosperous year ever for you and your family.

Lots of folks like to take the beginning of the year to make some resolutions for the future and I have one to offer during this week of 1958. Mr. E. M. Clark, our president, wrote it to explain the policies and objectives we try to follow in furnishing your telephone service and I thought it would make an appropriate New Year's resolution for us to make and dedicate to our customers.

WE DEFINE OUR OBJECTIVES

"OUR OBJECTIVE is to furnish the best possible telephone service at reasonable cost — a cost consistent with financial safety and fair treatment of employees.

"SERVICE ranks above everything else in this policy. And the only good service is one that is continually improving. To furinsh this service we need the best people, the best equipment, the best methods, and the best management we can develop.

"REASONABLE COST has been defined as one that produces an ever-growing public demand. Our equipment, training, and methods would net us nothing if the cost of service became so high that people would not buy it.

"FINANCIAL SAFETY should not be endangered by setting the price of service too low. In the long run, a price that provides profit large enough to undertake new research and development results in better cheaper service to the public.

"FAIR TREATMENT OF EMPLOYEES means good pay, good working conditions, reasonable job security, and opportunity for advancement based on merit. It is people — employees — who are the most important element in the success of any business.

WE ACCEPT THESE RESPONSIBILITIES

TO THE EMPLOYEES: Provide machines, methods, equipment, direction, leadership, job training, incentives to progress, selection for promotion.

TO THE PUBLIC: More and better service at a reasonable cost. Contributions to public welfare and national defense.

TO THE OWNERS: Run business in a sound, profitable manner.

LOOKING AHEAD

"PROGRESS has long been the keynote of the telephone business. And, if business forecasters are anywhere near correct the next 20 years will bring more growth and development than we have ever seen before.

"THE FUTURE can be faced confidently with a policy of equal consideration for owners, employees, and the public."

There you have it. We do our best every day to live up to this resolution and we hope you feel we're succeeding in our efforts to give you the best in telephone service.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

FARM SCENE

January 25 Deadline Set For Plow Under

By J. D. Moore
Milam County Agent

Agriculture Commissioner John White set midnight, Saturday, January 25, as the final date to get cotton stalks destroyed in compliance with the Texas Pink bollworm control law.

He said there will be no further extension of plow-up dates in any of the control areas this season.

Soil should be plowed now to prepare the seed bed for a good garden in 1958, with adequate moisure, fertilizer could be put down now under the rows in order to be ready for spring planting.

Apply 3 to 6 pounds of commercial fertilizer per 100 feet of row. If barn yard manure is used, apply it at the rate of one bushel per 25 sq. feet of soil. Now is a good time to plant onion plants in order to have early fresh onions. An up to date publication on all phases of gardening is available at the county extension office.

Spray pecan and fruit trees now with a dormant oil spray to control San Jose scale, Moore advises. This insect is so small it is not readily seen. The scale insects do serious damage to the pecan and fruit trees by sucking sap from the limbs. About the only noticeable appearance of scale is the "grayish" scaley condition on the limbs, usually on the underside away from the sun.

Since the oil spray is the most effective method of control and because of the possible damage of the oil to the foliage, it is important that the oil spray be applied during the dormant season.

Livestock need a liberal supply of minerals for proper bone development and growth. Mineral supplements are no cure-all, but they are necessary for successful grassland cattle production in areas where soils have become deficient in minerals. Minerals most likely to be needed by cattle are sodium, chlorine, phosphorus and calcium. You can supply sodium and chlorine by feeding common salt. The other two—phosphorus and calcium—can be furnished through mineral supplements.

Phosphorus deficiency may occur in any part of the State at any time, but in some sections it is present at all times. A year round supplement feeding program should be carried on if you live in one of these sections.

Officials reported 189 sellers and 61 buyers on hand for the weekly auction.

Auction officials noted lower prices from major markets affected sale prices in the Thursday sale.

All classes of cattle and calves sold at steady to weak prices compared to the previous week.

Officials said the lower prices were due to seasonal drops.

Compress Reports 11,815-Bale Count As Cotton Closes

County Agent J. D. Moore reported today a total of 11,815 bales of cotton recorded at the Cameron Compress.

He said officials expected the final count to exceed 12,000 bales in Milam County for 1957.

The 12,000—bale estimated total was higher than the 11,000 plus crop in 1956, Moore said. About 2,000 bales were counted during November.

Some cotton still is being brought in, Moore said.

In other agriculture news, Moore said fields last week dried enough for limited field work. He noted sufficient moisture for all crops.

No damage was reported to winter grain, Moore continued. Grain growth is going as expected during cold weather. He said excessive growth is not safe during winter months.

A good pecan crop was nearing completion, Moore said, as fair weather aided harvest of Milam pecans. He emphasized that the 1957 crop was surprisingly good.

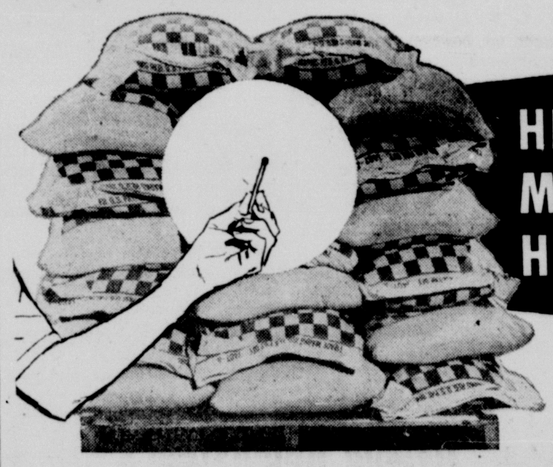
HERE'S HOW MICRO-MIXING HELPS YOU



Micro-Mixing makes it possible to distribute a quantity of rare ingredient no larger than a match throughout a ton of chow.

Some modern feed ingredients are so powerful that a quantity no larger than a match is all it takes for a ton of Chow.

This presents a production problem. If mixing wasn't done RIGHT, one bird might down the whole flock's portion in a single peck.

Thanks to Purina's Micro-Mixing process, this doesn't happen. This amazing, exclusive process blends tiny amounts of ingredients into every thimbleful of Purina Chows. Every bird or animal fed the Purina Way gets its share of each ingredient in the ration . . . helping you avoid waste and increase efficiency.

Micro-Mixing provides a safety factor, too. Some modern feed ingredients, which produce amazing results when fed in the right amount, are dangerous when overfed. When you feed Micro-Mixed Purina Chows you know you're feeding your birds and animals enough of the things they need . . . and not too much!

Whatever your feeding need . . .

WE HAVE A PURINA CHOW FOR YOU!

Poultry and livestock feeding today is a specialized business . . . Purina's business. Our complete Purina line means we can provide rations designed for YOUR specific needs!

After Football . . .

Cameron gives tremendous support to its football Yoemen each fall . . . in attendance and financial support.

But Yoe High School's other sports, particularly basketball, take more than a secondary position in the sports life here . . . particularly in attendance.

School officials added Bill Krueger, former Southwest Texas State Teachers College star, to the coaching roster for basketball.

He is building up interest in basketball in his first coaching semester at Yoe High School. But he needs our support.

Strong city-wide support for YHS cagers would boost interest in the game.

Let's apply some of the same gridiron enthusiasm during the remainder of the basketball season. The empty seats game after game at Yoe High Gymnasium suggest anything but interest in basketball players or the game.

It is the same school playing a different sport. The youngsters, Coach Krueger and the school deserve our interest.

Sage Seeks Sense Of Urgency For Science, But Not On Farm

By J. A.

Dear editar:

Now that Congress is back in session, news has been picking up, and one of the things that has interested me is the fact that for the first time in years everybody seems sort of glad that Congress has re-assembled. Up to now, when Congress met, it was sort of like a visit from your in-laws, most people stroked their chins and took a thoughtful, concerned look, wondering what it was going to cost. But with the scientific situation what it is, with the Russians pushing ahead, most people are delighted to see Congress in session and are hoping they'll get our defenses in shape.

However, there is one aspect that has me worried. According to an article I read in a newspaper last night, Congress has been declaring that what the trouble with Washington is, it has no "sense of urgency." We've got to have a "sense of urgency" about these guided missiles and man-made moons if we're going to realize our danger and catch up.

Well, now, I agree with this, and I hope they don't spare the horses, but realize the urgency of the situation and appropriate the money to catch up, however I would like to point out that this sense of urgency applies to military and scientific fields, not to my Johnson grass farm out here on Little River.

I have tried this sense of urgency in farming and it won't work. The last time I tried it, when I had a field I figured needing plowing right then, I got in a hurry, you might call it a crash program, to change a flat on my tractor and skinned all my knuckles on my left hand.

I've got a neighbor who simply can't rest until the last row is plowed, the last fence repaired, all the barn doors hung, every gate in working order, every loose board nailed down, etc., but he's on a special diet now and his doctor says if he doesn't slow down a new type of urgency will be facing him.

What this country needs is a sense of urgency, all right, but it ought to be concentrated on the military and scientific fields, as it's impractical out here on this farm, which is the most un-urgent spot on earth, and likely will stay that way.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Education Problems Tip Keen Discussion

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN—Eduration has been a prime concern of Texas government for more than a century and a quarter. But seldom, if ever, has the subject loomed so large in public discussion as now in the satellite age.

Austin, site of the Capitol and state university, is the center for a swirl of conferences and statements on the direction in which education should move.

Mirabeau B. Lamar, known as the "father of education in Texas," admonished early lawmakers with the famous statement, "The cultivated mind is the guardian genius of democracy."

In the past few months, since Sputnik, statesmen have taken up this theme in different words, but with greater-than-ever urgency. They're saying, in effect, that unless the tempo of training can be stepped up immediately to train more people better, democracy is doomed.

In Austin this challenge has set off lively debates and given heavy new significance to the planning conferences of those who set educational policy. Current examples in the news:

SCIENCE AND MATH study in Texas public schools will get a critical examination by a group of school principals with advice from business and industry leaders.

State Board of Education set up the study group which is to complete its project by end of 1959. Goal is to find means to enrich the schools' curriculum in some areas, set standards in others.

Board has previously raised graduation standards in Texas high schools, taking away from the students the chance to pass up math and science in favor of "snap" courses. This action, taken before the current science emphasis, was "somewhat prophetic," commented one board member.

NO TAX FOR TEACHERS would do more than scholarships and new buildings to raise level of instruction, said the secretary to the Commission on Higher Education.

Jack D. Cox said exempting teachers from income taxes would hav ethe effect of raising salaries without levying additional taxes.

POOR PAY FOR PROFS was hit even harder by a University of Texas faculty member in an Austin talk. He cited salary incentives as crucial in comparing Russian and U. S. school systems.

According to Dr. B. H. Amstead, an American college professor can expect to double his salary in a lifetime; his Russian counterpart can achieve 15 times his beginning wage. American teachers make 10 percent less than factory workers, said Dr. Amstead, Russian teachers 2½ times more.

Proposed federal scholarships will be useless, he opined, unless there's also more money to attract people to run schools.

"SURVIVAL DEPENDS on the quality of our schools," Sen. A. M. Aikin, Jr. of Paris told the Texas Association of School Administrators.

Aikin, leading legislative spokesman for education, reported on the aims of the Hale-Aikin Committee of 24 set up by the Legislature to make an over-all study of the state's school needs.

"Specific recommendations from the people of Texas on many important school matters are needed by the study group," Aikin said. Success of the study depends on how well the people get behind it and participate, he added.

It was begun, said the senator, "before foreign depelopment re-"before foreign development re-is a vital part of our national defense."

Land Leasing Set

School Land Board has set March 4 for sale of oil and gas leases on public lands.

Some 34,000 acres of tidelands plus several hundred tracts on state prison farms will be offered for leasing.

It will be the first time tidelands leases have been offered since the federal government filed suit contesting Texas' claim ot land more than three miles from shore. State officials were unsure how attractive the land would be under the circumstances.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bailey and sons have returned to their home from Pecos where they spent a few days with relatives.

DANGER AHEAD!

Beautiful, yes. Beautiful as only Nature in all her purity can be. But dangerous too; dangerous to the ships at sea and the men they carry. For an iceberg's greatest bulk lies unseen beneath the surface . . . and against it, the unwary cannot survive.

Many of the things which, on the surface, appear the most tempting and beautiful contain hidden dangers and unsuspected pitfalls.

Men, like ships, need warning and guidance—and nowhere can they find greater help, greater love and protection than in their Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
